

Supernova: Book One of Echoes of a Neutron Star (Volume 1)

Trevor Freeman is weird. At least, that's what most of his classmates tell him. He was born during a supernova that should have wiped out all life on Earth, only it didn't. He should have drowned in a freak accident while on a class field trip, only he didn't. Instead, his head is filled with vivid memories of setting foot on another planet. Then there's Alix, a mysterious stranger who tells him he is destined to save the world. Nothing makes sense anymore. Trevor used to think the daily grind of school was bad enough with the bullying and the loneliness, but what if he's in store for something much worse? Being different is one thing, but Trevor must cast aside reality as he knows it if he is to accept his uniqueness and fulfill his destiny.
